The map displays a detailed topographic view of a city, likely in Japan, showing a river and its surrounding urban areas. Red outlines highlight specific regions identified as having potential past land reclamation. The map includes various geographical features such as parks (e.g., 大門公園, 北中学校, 百田公園), schools (e.g., 大門小学校, 大田寺小学校), and residential zones. A legend in the top left corner provides context for the red outlines, stating that they are based on old and new topographic maps and indicate areas where land reclamation (including cutting) has occurred. It also notes that the map does not show areas with dangerous land reclamation or large-scale land reclamation. A scale bar and a north arrow are also present.
